

Dollars for Scholars program coming to Barnes and Noble

Heritage High School students, including the school's jazz band, will perform at the Barnes and Noble store, 7700 NE Fourth Plain Road, beginning at 7 p.m. Tuesday, April 25, as part of the school's Dollars for Scholars program, which generates money for college scholarships for graduating seniors.

Barnes and Noble customers will be offered vouchers that will designate 15 percent for the scholarship program from every purchase.

In addition to jazz music, students will present a scene from a forthcoming production of Shakespeare's Much Ado About Nothing.

People

Yevhen Usachov, Clark College dental program student, has been awarded the Clark College Alumni Association's first one-year scholarship. Usachov emigrated to the United States after graduating from high school in Ukraine in 1988, and has since become a U.S. citizen. Usachov, who has a 3.75 GPA, works full-time and is the sole provider for his mother and sister. The $3,000 scholarship is the first financial aid he has accepted. The alumni association has raised nearly half of its goal of $100,000 to maintain endowed scholarships for Clark students.
